Students to Host Guests from High Schools On Tours of Campus

by Gary Rummel — Universe Staff Writer

Smile when you see a group of high school students on campus. It does not laugh, even if one begins swinging from the Eyring Science Center's pendulum. In all probability, some of these people are future Brigham Young University students being taken on a tour of the campus by campus tour director John Ward, and being told how friendly the Y is.

Over 1000 people are expected to follow Ward through buildings and over the campus this spring, with the modern Family Life unit serving as a climax.

Tours usually last about an hour, Ward said, but some extend past three and are conducted specially for boys of about sixteen age.

Average number in a tour is usually about 50 or 60, but tours numbering up to 500 will not be uncommon this spring, he said.

All campus tours are handled through this tour department, which is part of the student program bureau. Floyd Taylor is in charge of all tours.

Biggest tour of the year is during orientation week. Other tours include M-Men, homecoming, groups of parents, school groups, primary groups, church groups, and anybody else wishing to view the school behind a guide who Intercollegiate Knights' courtesy discount cards will be sold during spring quarter registration for the last time, according to Lamont Ririe, committee chairman.

The cards, which will allow students admission to two downtown theaters at cut rates, are sold until September, Ririe said. The Paramount and Unité Theaters are owned by Intermountain Theatre Corp. and are making the scholarship fund money available by offering the discount.

Ririe said that $1500.00 has been realized from sales so far, with the proceeds going into a general scholarship fund.

Amendment Discussion Set for Open Forum

Students will have a chance to discuss the six proposed constitutional amendments at an open forum, 4:15-5:15 p.m. Tuesday in 260 Eyring Science Center. It was announced by Kent Hitecock, forum chairman.

Jack Zenger, ASBS president, will conduct the meeting, explaining the amendments and leading discussion. Sponsors of most of the bills will be there, according to Hitecock. Voting will be conducted in religion classes, Wednesday and Thursday.

Save the Pieces! They May Save Cash for Drivers

Student drivers who have to remove Brigham Young University parking stickers from their windshield when they have their cars inspected by the state were asked by Capt. Leonard E. Christensen, BYU traffic officer, to save the pieces.

Parking stickers are being scraped off by the state inspectors because they are in the upper right corner where state stickers must go, Capt. Christensen said. He promised that new stickers will be issued free to anyone bringing in the old one, and that they will be placed in the lower corner to avoid confusion.

He also reminded students that they must inform the traffic officer of their 1955 license plate number.

Dean Requests Students To Prepare for Sign-up

Students have only three weeks to prepare for a one-day registration, reminded Dr. Howard T. Reid, acting dean of students. He asked students to pay all fees and arrange class schedules in advance of the March 21 registration day.

So far only about two students a day have paid fees, he said.

Two-Day Student Vote To Determine Fate Of Six Amendments

Six amendments to the Associated Students' constitution will be brought to studentbody vote during religion classes, Wednesday and Thursday. A "yes" vote by two-thirds majority of the studentbody is required for passage.

Students who miss the religion class vote may cast ballots both days in the student coordinator's office, basement of Clark Service Center, according to Dee Jacobs, elections chairman.

First amendment would add initiative and referendum provisions to the constitution.

Students may propose initial legislation or bring any act passed by Legislative Council to studentbody vote by presenting a petition signed by 10 per cent of the studentbody, which at present would be 710 students.

In the case of a referendum, the petition must be presented to the studentbody president within two weeks after the Legislative Council's action has been published in the Universe. Any initiative or referendum measure, with the exception of constitutional amendments, would be passed by a simple majority of Debunking the idea that these tours are little more than static classes, Ward says, "these tours give us a wonderful informal opportunity to talk to people concerning such things as the Church, and growth of the school. It is one of the best means the school has of urging high school students to continue their education at BYU."

"In the near future we would like to carry this a step farther

War's Horrors are Realities For New Student from Russia

by Steve Hale — Universe Staff Writer

Peter Lysenko, a freshman who currently resides in Provo, has lived a hectic life.

He has experienced air raids in which bombs fell less than 40 yards away, and once sat under guard under a stack of suitcases loaded on a jeep, and lived for years in fear of deportation to a life behind the "Iron Curtain."

Peter was born 19 years ago in Islam-Terek, a small farming village in the Crimean section of Russia. His father worked as a government farm inspector. His mother's grandparents were Germans who had colonized in Russia during the reign of Catherine II.

Peter's family moved to a small industrial town near Stalingrad when he was four years old. The Lysenko family was living there when the German blitzkrieg smashed to the Volga River. Because of the Lysenko family's German ties and their unwillingness to remain in Russia, they were allowed to live in Poland.

When the course of battle changed and the Russians began their westward push, the Lysenkos again moved—this time to Kapsenberg, an industrial city in Austria.

On May 8, 1945, the day that Germany surrendered, the Russian "armies" closed in on the time the Lysenko family fled through the American lines to the United States.

In the years that followed, many Russian families that lived nearby were reeducated, but somehow the Lysenkos were overlooked.

It was in Bad Aibling that Peter was introduced to "Mormonism." He, his mother, and an aunt were baptized in Munich on Sept. 7, 1945.

Afterward, Peter's family moved to northern Belgium, where Peter's father was em-

Peter speaks four languages—Russian, Dutch, German, and English. He plans to major in chemistry, and hopes to teach Russian. He also hopes to be sent on a mission to one of the countries in which he has lived. "I enjoy living in a LDS community, and am grateful for the chance to get a college education, which would probably be denied me in all of the other countries which I have lived in. I also enjoy thinking and speaking freely," said Peter Lysenko, future American.

Brigham Young University AFOTC Acquires New Jet Engine for Study

by Norman Akita
Universe Staff Writer

A jet engine is now the property of Brigham Young University for AFOTC, engineering, and other students in related subjects to study. Lt. Col. Jesse Stay, professor of Air Science and Tactics, has announced.

For the time being the jet engine is located at the Utah Vocal School, 1400 N. University Ave., where it is being studied by vocational students. Lt. Col. Stay said. He added that a place will be selected on BYU campus for the jet engine to be placed and used by students for other departments to study.

Purpose of the jet engine, Lt. Col. Stay stated, is to show mechanics the operation, mechanics, and design of jet engines. Dr. Leland K. Baxter, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, plans to demonstrate various mechanical operations of the jet engine to mechanical engineering students.

Built by Westinghouse, the jet engine is a J-34 called the "Tussock." It is used in navy planes such as the "Sea Dart," which can travel 700 mph and the "Banshee" that can fly better than 600 mph, with a range of 2,000 miles. Lt. Col. Stay explained. He added that J-34 has a 3400 lbs. thrust, equivalent to 3400 h.p. at certain altitudes.

Outlook Brightens for 154 'Old Maids'

Mistakes in recently released calculations of married and single students at Brigham Young University appeared to sentence 154 too many women to spinsterhood, so far as equal division of eligible males go.

There are actually only two more unmarried women than men at BYU. Only 28 per cent of the men are married, as compared to the previously reported one-third, according to corrected figures released this week by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

Of the 4,019 men in school, all but 2,804 are married. Women total 3,962, with 2,896 still single.

Amendments—

three who vote providing at least 30 per cent of the studentbody vote.

Second amendment would provide for amending the constitution by a three-eighths majority of the studentbody rather than the two-thirds needed at present. The measure states that amendments will be passed by affirmative vote of three-fourths of those who vote, providing at least 30 per cent vote.

Third amendment gives the publications committee final authority in all cases to select the editors and business managers of studentbody publications.

At present these may be positions brought to studentbody vote when the committee feel there are two applicants equally worthy. However, the committee has made final selection for several years. This amendment would also require editors and business managers to take the studentbody oath of office.

Fourth amendment provides for the election of class Legislative Council representatives in the spring rather than in the fall, as at present.

Graduate students would elect their representative at this time also. Freshmen representatives would still be chosen in the fall.

Fifth amendment eases requirements for studentbody office candidates.

It would allow students to run who have attended Brigham Young University three quarters at any time instead of only those who have attended fall and winter quarters prior to the spring elections, as required at present.

Sixth amendment would add provision for the Honor Council to the constitution. It states that a committee of five legislators, including the Honor Council chairman, must appoint the next year's Honor Council by the third week after studentbody elections.

With reserves taking over with six minutes to play and a 73-53 lead, the bench riders, led by sophomore forward Lynn Rowe, proceeded to pour through 21 more points for the night's total.

Early Lead

A&M jumped to an early 4-0 lead before the Cougars caught fire with nearly four minutes gone with Herchel Pedersen swishing two foul tosses and a tip-in to pull the Cats up before forward of the famous jump shots to put the Colags ahead 6-4.

A rash of points by Tebbes, Pedersen and Lewis put the Cougars in front for keeps as Caylor, Gregory, and Kinard kept the Aggies' hopes alive. With John Benson and Pedersen dominating the backboards and Ed Finager, Terry Tebbes, and Van Burgess playing heads-up floor ball, the Cougars moved to a commanding 43-28 lead at half-time.

Finager and Pedersen started off the second half with a bang as they hit consecutively for four counters before A&M's hook shot wizz and Kinard hit with one of his 30-foot specials. "Bones" and Tebbes traded shots with Bryant and Kinard before Hibbard hit another crowd-inspiring hook.

Ron Caylor tried gamely to keep the Aggie club in the ball game, but the Cougars' big guns proved to be too much of a handicap with the tips and rebounding of Benson, the ball handling and jumpshooting of Tebbes and the fine backboard work of the ever-present Pedersen.

WHO WILL BE

Watch for details

CLARK'S for him

With six minutes left in the game, Coach Watts pulled his regulars. His sophomores seemed as effective as the first five as they kept the Rams at bay and proceeded to pour in 21 more points. Rowe, 6'4", led the attack, scoring 14 counters in the last five minutes on a variation of shots from drives to pivots and sets.

Coach Jim Williams of Colorado A&M, put his younger players into the game after seeing that the cause was hopeless and thereby both teams played what will be possibly their varsities in coming years.

Pedersen Hot

Leading the Cougar attack for 35 minutes, Big "Soup Bones" Pedersen cashed in on 29 points to lead all scorers for the night. Terry Tebbes garnered 20 for his night's work on his outside jump shots and across-the-key hooks. John Benson and Lynn Rowe also scored in the double figures, each gathering 14.

Benson's timely tips and drives gave him his points, while Rowe got hot in the last five minutes and potted 13 out of his total. Burgess, Finager, Lewis and Kinard rounded out the Cougar scoring with 7, 6, 2 and 2, respectively.

Gary Hibbard led the A&M crew with his hooks and tips, gathering 16 counters. Jack Bryant was close behind with 14, Caylor 9, Kinard 8, and Allred 6 to close the Aggie scorebook.

Take the shrewdness of a bank president, the cunning of a secret agent, the nerve and self-confidence of a stepladder, the savvy of a bullfighter and combine it with traits of humility, integrity—and a liberal sense of humor—and you have a partial profile of the man that Coach Stan Watts is.

To fans of Saturday night's game with Wyoming, there can be no doubt as to the superiority of the brains behind the Cougar machine.

Time after time as the Cats came on to the floor after a timeout they would go into a series of plays which left the Cowboys standing in their stocking feet. These plays didn't come about through chance. They had been initiated, and perfected by long hours on the court. Long hours of drill and practice went into the making of the field balls which landed so natural and unhearsable.

The secret of a scoring combination is the team's ability to keep the play from being detected until it is too late to stop it. Having the plays is just a small part of the process that goes into putting the ball through the hoop.

A coach and a team must know, or quickly find out, which plays will work against a specific team. He must prescribe remedies for his own team's trouble.

A coach constantly has to watch his team working a play to perfection only to have it nullified by a tool of a whistle. It isn't any wonder that coaches develop everything from ulcers to bunions. Also, it isn't any wonder that some coaches pace the floor and make uncomplimentary remarks concerning a referee's origin and upbringing.

The quiet determination and apparent calmness with which Coach Watts accepts these frustrations, is unusual if not unique among men who are coaches by trade.

One of the finest plays in the Cougars' bag of tricks was one which didn't click against the towering Cowpokes. The play features a shot by Burgess from mid-court which Pedersen jumps and tips in. Both players must have their movements coordinated to the split second.

Utah's threats to go big-time in football are apparently more than noise. The Utes are contracted to play Rice Institute at the Rice Stadium in 1966. That, at least, is the beginning of a beginning.

It's really surprising how much a bunch of guys who play ball strictly extra-curricularly can do against a formally-organized team like the Cougar Frosh. The Elghlights of the independent intramural league, downed BYU's freshmen 91-80 Friday. The Frosh edged the P.E.M. Club team Saturday. The Elghlights were sparked by BYU grad ace, Phil Oyster, who tallied 20 points.

Parding Shot

With BYU's newly-acquired rooster, Sh-Boom, the veritable canon, we don't have to worry about beating a team, we'll just score them to death.

Utah Wins Conference Title; Utags Beat Lobos, DU Wins

Utah's Redskins wrapped up first place in the Skyline Conference last Saturday as they trounced the Colorado Aggies in a ball game that was close until the middle of the second half. In the final eight minutes of play Utah completely took over with Bunte and Tonnessen both finding the range and hitting for several baskets. The final score was Utah 67-51.

Cougars Win

In other ball games around the Conference the Brigham Young Cougars jumped into second place all alone due to their twin wins over Colorado A&M and Wyoming. On Friday the Cats dominated the Cologs as they ran up a 94-65 score which was a new field house record. The old record of 93 points was also set by BYU earlier in the year against Montana.

On Saturday evening the Cougars tangled with the Cowboys of Wyoming and emerged the victor over the Pokes 75-62. The ball game was rough and rugged basketball affair completely run by the players.

The Cats, though the underdog in height, dominated the backboards most of the game and this proved the turning point as the Cats outshot the Pokes from the field.

Tebbs, Capua Star

The dynamite twins, Tebbs of BYU and Capua of Wyoming, put on an show all their own. Capua had ten points when Tebbs moved over and began checking him and Tebbs had six. After the game was over Capua had scored 14 points of Tebbs and Tebbs had gotten 16 off Capua.

Aggies Split

Utah State drubbed New Mexico 79-68 at Albuquerque on Saturday and lost to Denver Thursday by a score of 77-68. Pioneer center Brodt scored 30 points and held the highly touted Johnston to 10 counters.

Montana downed Montana State in a non-conference game at Missoula, 67-50.

Cats Top 'Pokes; Wove Into Second

by Ken Clayton
Universe Sports Editor

The tall timber fell heavily to the ground Saturday night in the feldhouse as Brigham Young's steaming charges upset a huge Wyoming club, 75-62, before 7,751 rabid fans.

Coach Stan Watts' cagers thereby vaulted into second place in the Skyline Conference, displacing the Cowboys who slipped into third. The Cats can clinch the runnerup slot outright by whipping Denver and New Mexico this weekend.

Little Terry Tebbs and Wyoming's 5-9 Joe Capua staged one of the finest "little men" duels witnessed in these parts for some time. Tebbs dunked eight field goals, mostly on outside jump shots, and six free throws for a 22 point total, while Capua kept Wyoming in the game with 24 markers, 25 of these being the result of long sets from 20 feet out.

Wyoming sported a tall quintet that had four players over the 6'4 mark, but the Brigham, led by Tebbs and Big Herschel (Bones) Pedersen, managed to hold their own against the Wadides, overwhelming height. Pedersen, in particular, was brilliant off the boards scoring 18 points before fouling out with 10 seconds left in the game. The "Souper" received a standing ovation for his tremendous rebounding labors when he left the contest.

Iron Squad

The Cougars played the game with virtually a five-man club until Lloyd Rasmussen replaced

Pedersen near the conclusion of hostilities.

John Benson tallied 14 for the Cats in addition to playing a remarkable backboard game, along with Ed Pinegar, who tallied eight. Van Burgess rang up 13 points and displayed some beautiful passing and defensive play in a winning effort.

Gordon Holden scored 13 markers as he and Capua were the only Pokes performers to attain double figures.

Slow Start

Ev Shelton's crew controlled the rebounds during the early stages of the tilt, rolling up a 16-11 lead before BYU found themselves.

Pedersen scored on a follow-up, Burgess swished in a 25-foot set, Benson made a one-pointer, Pedersen canned two fouls, and Tebbs dunked in a long set to give the Brigham an 18-16 lead, one they never relinquished from that point on.

Although Wyoming tied the count at 20-20, the Wattsmen racked up a string of eight straight points and eventually built their halftime margin to 34-26 over the surprised Cowboys.

Capua Hits

Puncher Capua hit with 10 points early in the second half, bringing his club to within six points of the Cats, 44-38, before Brigham Young pulled away again.

The Wadides got hot later as Capua and Ed Huse sparked a rally that cut the deficit to 62-55 with four minutes remaining.

Stealing a page from Shilton's book, BYU went into a modified stall, shooting only when the opportunity presented itself. This maneuver so unnerved Wyoming that the Pokes fouled the Cougars, who potted a flurry of free pitches as the game ended.

The Cats' defense was superb with the winners completely throttling the Wyoming attack with the exception of Capua. Time and again, BYU stole the ball from the stunned Laramie crew, as the Cougars won the battle for second place, 75-62.

BOOKWORMS OF THE WEEK

SUPPORTING THE CARD FILES—These two students talked and held up the filing cases for nearly half-an-hour last week. When other students wanted in the particular drawers these fellows were blocking, they were considerate enough to move, when asked. But they immediately returned to the same position. However, their conversation was particularly disturbing to students in the reading room, according to one of the librarians.

Brigham Young University Graduate Appointed to Federal Educ. Committee

Dr. H. Grant Vest, Brigham Young University graduate, former Utah, has been appointed to the Committee for the White House Conference on Education by President Eisenhower, it was learned here recently.

Dr. Vest, Denver, Colorado State Commissioner of Education, was one of 32 persons appointed to the Committee by the President to conduct a national conference on the nation's educational problems.

White House Conference on Education is part of a national plan to enlist citizen action to improve education. The 33rd Congress authorized the program in response to Eisenhower's recommendation in his State-of-the-Union Message, Jan. 7. Congress appropriated $300,000 for the purpose, with $700,000 allotted to help States finance their conferences.

'Flying Vet' Conducts Classes In Barn in Southern Utah City

Dr. Max M. Nicholes, animal husbandry instructor, may now be called Brigham Young University's "Flying Veterinarian."

Dr. Nicholes, through the sponsorship of Millard County High School principal, LaMont Bennett, and the Extension Division, is teaching a course in practical veterinary practices in Millard County.

He will fly himself to Phipps each Friday afternoon for six weeks.

Because there is no veterinary hospital within 100 miles, the classes will be held in a barn, where actual demonstrations with farm animals will be possible, according to Dr. Nicholes. He plans to show the new uses of antibiotics and surgery, including new methods for painless removal of bulls' horns.

Dr. Nicholes received his DVM from Colorado A&M, and studied under a well-known Scottish veterinarian, Dr. James Tarquairson.

'Tovarich' Tryouts Today, Tomorrow

Tryouts for "Tovarich" will be Tuesday and Wednesday in the Speech Center, room 140, from 3 to 5 p.m., according to Dr. Preston Gledhill, director.

"Tovarich" is the Russian word for "comrade." The play is a comedy about Russian refugees in Paris.

Eight male parts and seven female parts are available. Dr. Gledhill expressed a desire for new names, and tryouts are open to anyone, he emphasized. Copies of the script are available on reserve at the library.

The play will be presented during the second week of April by the Brigham Young University Theatre.

Colorado Art Guild Exhibiting Works

The art exhibit now on display on the mezzanine of the Eyring Science Center, is a traveling exhibit from Boulder Artists Guild, Boulder, Colo.

According to BYU art professor, Wylie Swapp, the exhibit consists of 42 works of art, representing 23 artists, all members of the Boulder Artists Guild.

Various media are used in the drawings, including pen and ink, brush and ink, pencil, water colors, block prints, and linoleum prints. Some of the drawings are done in black and white, and others are colored.

Subjects range from representative life portraits of people, animals, and landscapes, to abstractionism, Prof. Swapp said. The exhibit will remain here until March 6, and will then travel to Salina, Kan., he said.

Touring Company Offers 'Earnest' To Raise Money

Brigham Young University's Touring Company will present Oscar Wilde's "Importance of Being Earnest" to community organizations interested in raising funds, according to Dr. Harold L. Hansen, speech department chairman.

Arrangements may be made by word or state groups who wish to raise funds for building projects and other purposes by contacting Floyd R. Taylor, director of BYU Talent Tours. The touring schedule will be announced later, Dr. Hansen stated.

Cast for the "trivial comedy for serious people" includes Arthur Butler, Green; Harold Oakes, Opden; Andre Mostert, Prevost; Kent Hurst, Payson; Robert Nelson, Spanish Fork; Lorna Erickson, Richland, Wash.; JoAnn Leonard, Price; Lorna Nielsen, Ogden; Betty Van Wagner, Palo Alto, Calif.; Mary Dawson, Layton; and Shirley Weeks, Woods Cross.
